Miranda House
University of Delhi

Miranda House

Miranda House, one of the premier women's institutions of University of Delhi, is also one of its oldest. Set up in response to a demand to further education for women, its foundation stone was laid on 7 March 1948 by Lady Edwina Mountbatten.

The first Principal of Miranda House was Ms. Veda Thakurdas, who had earlier headed the Islamia Women's College, in the nationalist 1930s. The then Vice-Chancellor of University of Delhi, Sir Maurice Gwyer, named the college Miranda, after Shakespeare's heroine in The Tempest. Incidentally, Miranda was also his daughter's name.

Miranda House is one of the few colleges maintained by the University of Delhi. The Principal of Miranda House is Dr. Pratibha Jolly, under whose able stewardship, the College proposes to reach new heights. She is a physicist and an educationist of acclaim, having contributed extensively in the fields of teaching pedagogy in Indian schools and colleges. Miranda house can boast of some of the best teaching departments of the University. The Humanities and Social Sciences section of the college has thirteen departments, which are among the most experienced in the University. Miranda House had pioneered the introduction of science courses for women in University of Delhi. Initially classes were held in the University and the B.Sc. (General) classes were started in the college premises in 1963, while the Science Honours section was started in 1971. The College now has a dedicated science block with modern laboratory facilities, among the very best in the University.

Miranda House has a separate library block which houses over one lakh volumes and many journals, periodicals and newspapers. The college encourages active participation in Sports, NCC and NSS activities. There are tennis and basketball courts, a mini gym, and open grounds for track and field events. The college has installed a Paper Recycling Plant for waste paper disposal and its productive use and also has a Solid Waste Management Project for environment friendly garbage disposal.

With more than 3000 students, the college has a long tradition of liberal education. The college has consistently maintained high academic standards, while at the same time providing space to the students to freely express themselves and take up social responsibilities, in response to the needs of a changing world. The Miranda House Alumnae Association became a registered body in 2003. The college is proud of its alumnae, who belong to various professions where they have contributed dynamically and earned a name for themselves and the Institution.

The college motto cherishes the hope that learning and academic pursuit will be a lifelong habit to anyone who goes through its portals.

- (iii) That 25% of the maximum marks in each paper in undergraduate courses be assigned for Internal Assessment and the remaining 75% marks for the annual/semester University Examination; that the time duration and other modalities of the annual/semester Examination with respect to this 75% component shall remain as per existing schemes of examination for various undergraduate courses:

compliance. If a college fails to submit the Internal Assessment marks in time, the University shall not declare the result for such a course in the College. The responsibility for non-declaration of the result of any course in any college in such circumstances will be solely that of the college.

(b) That there shall be a Monitoring Committee for Internal Assessment in every college, which shall be chaired by the Principal of the College and will be made up of the Vice Principal (and in case there is no Vice-Principal, the Bursar), Secretary Staff Council, and two senior faculty members to be nominated by the Principal. This Committee shall be responsible for the entire process of Internal Assessment in the College, including redressal of grievances, if any.

- That in the case of students who repeat one or more papers(s), or all papers of semester of Part I or Part II or Part III, the Internal Assessment marks shall be carried forward.
