1.3.3. CRACKING YOUR DREAM JOB

Talerang
30th July 2022

The Placement Cell, in collaboration with Talerang, organized a webinar on 'cracking your dream job'. Talerang, aids students, particularly those in Gen-Z, in discovering their areas of interest, honing their skills in those areas, and placing themselves accordingly. It was brought to the audience's notice that more than 60% of students who graduate from prestigious colleges are unprepared for the workforce and are therefore not job-ready. The speaker, Aishwariya Chauhan, enlightened the audience on what most students lack when planning to join the workforce. The students lack good first impressions, communication skills, self-leadership, and life vision among others. The session also involved an in-depth discussion on resume building, as it is the first and very crucial step in the job application process. The students were informed not only about their part in the job application process but also about the recruiter's perspective. The speaker counselled the students on how to nail interviews, in the end.

1.3.4. HOW TO GET ADMITS TO TOP B-SCHOOLS?

IMS Centre for International Education
27th August 2022

The session commenced with a discussion of top career paths in the field of management. Then the speaker went on to guide the audience on how to choose whether to study in India or abroad. This helped the students to analyse rationally, their future prospects. Further, the possible career options after management studies were discussed. The audience gained more interest when MiM was introduced. MiM is a Management program for candidates with 0-2 years of experience. The duration of this program is 11 to 24 months and is equivalent to IIM PGP. The career prospects along with the top Business Schools offering this program were discussed briefly. The session continued by elaborating on the pros and cons of deferred MBA programs. The audience was most curious to know about the route to MBA and MiM programs, both in India and abroad. The speaker also enlightened the audience about the selection criteria for B-Schools' recruitment. IMS CLE will aid students looking for guidance related to management courses.

1.3.5. YOUNG LEADERS PROGRAMME

Indian School of Business
13th September 2022

The Placement Cell, Miranda House in collaboration with the Indian School of Business did a seminar on the Young Leaders Programme by Ketan Tiwari, Senior Manager- Admissions and Financial Aid. The Indian School of Business (ISB) evolved from the need for a world-class business school in Asia. It is funded entirely by private corporations, foundations, and individuals from around the world who believe in its vision, the ISB is a not-for-profit organization.

The speaker gave us an insight into the rankings. According to the AMA 20202 Research Productivity Ranking, it got ranked 1 in Asia and 44 globally. He further explained the pedagogy which emphasizes integrated learning through classroom, applied, and peer learning and through events and competitions. The speaker then explained the Alumni network of ISB which spreads with a network of more than 13,500+ Alumni working in prominent industries to 11 Unicorns. The speaker briefly notified me about the multiple scholarships offered and their selection criteria. He then dealt with the nuances of the entry process, briefing me about the different modes of entry. The session then ended with a question-answer session fuelled by ideas, inclusivity, and knowledge.

1.3.6. CASE STUDY PREPARATION

T.I.M.E Institute

17th September 2022

The Placement Cell, in collaboration with T.I.M.E Institute, organized a webinar on 'How to prepare for case studies for recruitment processes. This webinar was organized, realizing the importance of case studies in the current placements' scenario and also in higher education in top B schools and MBA colleges. The speaker, Aditi Mishra, enlightened the students on the step-wise approach that should be adopted while tackling a case study. The first step should be to identify and define the problem followed by analysing it. Students were advised not to give general statements as answers, rather they should look into the depth of the problem, select the best course of action, and incorporate the risk management factors. The moral and ethical aspects of decision-making were also discussed briefly. The students were informed about the skills that are checked via case study-solving tasks. These skills include morals, ethics, fairness, prioritization ability, logical and analytical sense, and common sense. The session concluded with practice questions for a better insight into how to apply the tips and tricks discussed formerly. The students found the session very insightful and would be helpful in the ongoing placement season.

1.3.7. UPSC PREPARATION

UPSC ADDA247 PLATFORM

19th September 2022

The Placement Cell, in collaboration with UPSC Adda 24/7, held an offline seminar to enlighten UPSC aspirants. Adda 247 is an online platform training students for UPSC and State exams. The team at Adda 247 IAS believes in mentorship rather than just teaching students. Alongside the final aim of cracking UPSC, they mentor candidates through continuous counselling for any personal or professional issue they might face. The session was conducted by the core faculty members- Mr. Siddharth, Ms. Aadhya, and Mr. Ankit. The speakers gave a captivating talk about the process of preparing for UPSC and life beyond it. The speakers, UPSC aspirants themselves, emphasized the need for a true and helpful mentor in the journey of preparing for such a prestigious exam as UPSC. What grabbed the audience's attention was the little factors that make or break one's preparation. The speakers spoke from experience, giving their words more credibility. The session came to an end with a Q/A session with Mr. Prabhat Singh - IRPS (Batch of 2019), virtually. Mr. Singh talked about his own experience and helped students clarify the doubts they might have about their preparation.

1.3.8. GATEWAY TO FINANCIAL FREEDOM

Hedge School of Applied Economics

24th September 2022

Financial freedom refers to having enough residual income to cover your living expenses. It is not about being rich, but rather being satisfied. One can start their journey toward financial freedom by starting investing early with a goal-based approach. This shall not be a large amount, but a small SIP too can go a long way in the long term. Try to build a contingency fund and imbibe good money habits in your day-to-day life. The speaker went on to talk about A Systematic Investment Plan (SIP), more popularly known as SIP, which is a facility offered by mutual funds to investors to invest in a disciplined manner. One of the tools for SIP is Groww. The session ended with a discussion of some career opportunities in the finance sector. These include Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA), Chartered Public Accountant (CPA), Certified Financial Planner (CFP), Financial Risk Manager (FRM) certification, and others

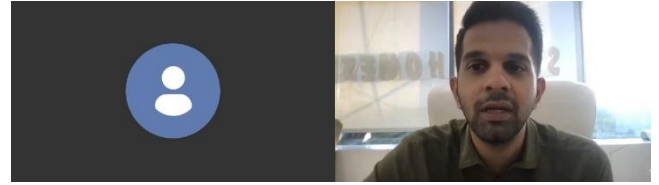

1.3.9. A TO Z OF STUDYING ABROAD

Gradvine

16th October 2022

The Placement Cell, Miranda House conducted a webinar in collaboration with Gradvine to help students plan their masters abroad. The session was taken by Sreekar Sannapareddy (Founder - Gradvine & Alumni of Dartmouth College). The session commenced with a discussion about why should one choose to study abroad stating factors like better education quality and attractive employment options. He further talked about how to choose which country should one pick for their masters keeping in mind the visa period, financial budget, and future plans. To better assist the students, the session was segregated into various master options that students can take up. This included MBA, LLB, and pure science/ academia courses. The session ended with solving student queries and talking about the 4-step application process abroad that is followed by most universities. It consisted of filling up an online application, writing exams like the GRE/ GMAT and English language exams like TOEFL/IELTS, college mark sheets/ transcripts, and letters of recommendation.
